Chapter Two

TRIBUTE

TO

ACLICE RANDALL CLARK

By Emma Zanorim Tippitts

Given at Sister Clark's Funeral Service

"Aunt Alice Clark" as she was called, was a True Wife, a Devoted Mother, a Wise Leader, a Great Teacher, a Trustworthy Friend.

Now she has finished with this world of strife, she has gone to a much needed rest, to a more beautiful place than we can imagine. But in our memories she is living as always. For always her good works, her kind deeds, her helpfulness to all in need, never die. Her good council, her fine example, her honest living of Gospel Truths, will continue to endure.

She was humble, yet unafraid in the battles of life, its trials and tribulations, that come to all "Who Dare To Do Right, Let The Consequence Follow". Her path was not strewn with roses, yet she sought the good, the beautiful and the true. She did a lot of things fort peace of her mind, in hopes the day would come when those she served could appreciate the help or encouragement in the line of duty. She did her work with great courage and undying devotion.

We can all share in the honor of her fine family. They are a credit to any community; their mother's life, like a light on a hill, will be there for them to follow.

God bless the memory of this true Latter Day Saint.
